Breakthrough Ideas for Medical Leadership

Developing your medical leadership ability may be the single most important career decision you will ever make. Medical leadership starts with a resilient individual who can motivate themselves and inspire a team, department, GP practice, hospital, or a health economy to transform healthcare and the experience of patients.

Enjoy greater, more fulfilling career opportunities and better outcomes for everyone - your patients, your team and for yourself.

We are the Faculty of Medical Leadership and Management (FMLM) and we believe in the possibilities of the Enlightened Side.
