The Faculty of Medical Leadership and Management (FMLM) is offering the opportunity for trainee members to join the Trainee Steering Group (TSG). The TSG is a group responsible for representing the views and interests of trainee members within FMLM. The purpose of the TSG is to promote the values of FMLM to trainees and to provide strategic direction for medical leadership and management for its trainee members.

FMLM is currently inviting its trainee members to apply for the position of TSG Deputy Chair. The appointed deputy chair role is key to the effective working of the TSG, holds high responsibility for, and involvement in the strategic direction of and provides a wealth of self-development and experiential learning opportunities for the appointment person.

As the Deputy Chair you will:

- Be encouraged and supported to promote and highlight the work of the TSG and FMLM, expanding the influence the TSG has regionally, nationally and internationally.
- Work collaboratively with the Chair and other TSG members, relevant FMLM staff members and external stakeholders, whilst supporting other TSG members with promotion of their projects and events.
- Support the Chair in delivering the vision and mission statement of the TSG through a formalised workplan
- Contribute to the overall direction of the TSG, ultimately representing trainee leadership and management on behalf of FMLM.
- Contribute to the expansion of existing trainee networks.

In addition, there is an opportunity for significant professional and personal development via access to FMLM training opportunities, mentorship, and experiential learning through leading and delivering projects. The FMLM is committed to developing leadership and management among trainees. Joining the TSG will give you the chance to have your say on how this is achieved and delivered.

Eligibility: UK-based trainees (doctors in training), with FMLM membership at the time of application.

To Apply: Applications are made by returning the application form to tsg@fmlm.ac.uk, copying in tsg.chair@fmlm.ac.uk by 11th December at 6pm. Interviews will commence at the point at which potentially appointable applicants have been received, and so the application window may close before this date, or extend after 11th December.

INTERVIEW STRUCTURE

Successful applicants will be invited to participate in a short informal interview one evening at some point between 7pm and 9.30pm during a weekday. If these times are unsuitable, we will do our best to accommodate you. The interview will be conducted by 2-3 existing TSG members and will last around 20 minutes. The interview also offers you an opportunity to discuss any questions you may have regarding FMLM and the TSG.

The interview follows a value-based recruitment model, with questions focussed on the themes outlined in the table below.

QUESTION THEMES

Commitment to medical leadership & management & its role in healthcare.

Knowledge & understanding of the FMLM, the TSG & its activities.

Organisation, self-motivation & innovation.

Inclusive, reflective & accountable team-member.

TERMS OF REFERENCE

FMLM Trainee Steering Group

1. Purpose

The TSG is a representative group ensuring the views and interests of trainee members are represented to FMLM. Its purpose is to promote FMLM's values to trainee members and to provide a strategic direction for medical leadership and management for its trainee members. The TSG also promotes the value of trainee leadership within healthcare and the need to achieve equity of opportunity at all times.

2. Composition of the committee

The composition of the committee represents the diversity of its membership:

3. Meetings

Meetings will be chaired by the Chair and in their absence, the deputy-chair or another appointed deputy. Decisions will be made on consensus where warranted. Voting rights are available to all members of the TSG, except for the FMLM Clinical Fellow.

Prior to meetings, all leads are expected to submit progress reports, unless advised otherwise by the Chair. The committee will meet virtually at least three times a year and will meet twice in person where possible. Inability to attend meetings due to other commitments, both professional and personal, is anticipated, along with exceptional circumstances. In such circumstances, members are requested to send their apologies to the Chair and the General Secretary with as much notice as possible.

4. Minutes

Minutes and actions of each meeting will be recorded and circulated; this will be the responsibility of the General Secretary. It is the responsibility of each TSG member to review the minutes and complete actions required.

5. Remit

To fulfil the aims of TSG, the activities of the committee include, but are not limited to mentoring, coaching, conferences, seminars, events, policy, publications, representation, social media, webinars, and leadership development. Through these activities, TSG members will:

- Promote and signpost FMLM services and TSG workstreams that support trainee development.
- Contribute to development of projects and workstreams designed to promote trainee leadership and management development and the value of trainee leadership.
- Support emerging trainee medical leaders and trainees interested in developing leadership skills.
- Align with FMLM and support local, regional and national evidence-based initiatives that promote good leadership and management practice.
- Strengthen and promote inclusivity at all levels by:
 - Helping members to recognise their leadership capabilities.
 - Contributing to equality, diversity and inclusivity workstreams.
 - Acting as an active ally, opportunistically highlighting where equity can be achieved through TSG work.
 - Promoting flexibility and other ways to promote equity of access to leadership and management development opportunities and roles.
 - Supporting applications for FMLM Associate Fellowship.
 - Promoting trainee networking at FMLM's annual in-person conference.
 - Signposting trainees to national, regional, and local events that support best practice in medical leadership and management.

6. Remuneration

All roles as part of the FMLM TSG are voluntary and non-remunerated. Individuals are eligible to claim expenses for travel and subsistence costs necessarily incurred in line with the relevant FMLM policies. We strive to provide benefits to TSG members, recognising your service, such as bespoke group leadership development sessions and events, discounts to FMLM events, ARCP recognition letters and networking opportunities alongside opportunities to participate in unique projects.

7. Time commitment

The TSG members are expected to actively engage with the work of the committee and must ensure they are able to devote enough time to ensure satisfactory discharge their duties. Members are strongly encouraged to liaise with the TSG Chair if there are professional or personal commitments or challenges which may affect their ability to contribute to the TSG as below.

The time required for this role will vary based on the work of the TSG and FMLM at the time. This time commitment can be reviewed with the TSG Chair and, if necessary FMLM staff members. There will be an understanding of major life events, personal and professional commitments by the Chair and FMLM staff — with as advanced notice as possible for any temporary alteration and reduction in capacity appreciated and expected where possible.

The deputy chair can expect to attend one half day ATDG meeting every quarter, the quarterly TSG meetings, TSG development sessions and one hour meetings with the chair and FMLM staff on average every other month. There will also be informal meetings and communications regarding the TSG between the Chair and officer team in between formal meetings. Total time commitment on average should be 2 hours per week. A letter outlining the position the deputy chair holds can be provided for those who require this in order to obtain professional leave or support from their training programme to attend meetings.

There will be a three to four month introductory/pilot period after which time you will be able to review the role and your experiences with the TSG Chair. This is designed to be a supportive and enabling process, allowing for reflection on aspirations, suggestions and needs so that the Chair can help facilitate any action or outcomes needed by them. However, this is a novel initiative and therefore your feedback on the process will be valued, and a review of its use will occur within the first year of piloting.

As part of the TSG approach to supporting member engagement, we have introduced internal processes to best enable you in your role and to ensure the work of the TSG progresses as our trainee members need it to. We recognise that trainees often encounter unexpected issues which require their time and attention elsewhere and we are keen to provide an understanding and supportive environment as much as is feasible to do so.

You will be expected to communicate with the Chair as soon as possible (ideally prospectively) regarding any current or foreseeable issues which will significantly affect your ability to fulfil your role, outlining how this will affect your work and the projected length of time affected or time at which you will check in again with an update on your availability. You are not expected to provide detailed reasons of the issues affecting you, and confidentiality will be maintained at all points.

If you do not communicate with the Chair as above, and if you have not attended a TSG meeting, contributed to TSG work or discussions or demonstrated activity within your appointed role for three months, the Chair will contact you to check whether they can provide further support and better enable you within your role, whether there are temporary matters affecting your engagement and so on. This will be done in a sensitive, constructive way, discretely. If you do not respond to this communication in any form within one month, you will be regarded as having stepped down from your role.

Should you respond and be found to have had no exceptional reasons and continue to contribute to work within the remit of your role within the following three months, the Chair will contact you again. At this point, it will be clarified if any subsequent exceptional circumstances have occurred, and if not, you will be asked to step down from your role.

8. Accountability framework

TSG members (and their associated activities) are accountable to the TSG Chair, who in turn reports to FMLM's Senior Leadership Team (SLT) regularly, usually on a monthly to bimonthly basis.

Your behaviours and approach to your role should be in keeping with the FMLM Leadership and Management Standards and Code of Conduct.

Formal publications, for example for peer reviewed publication or publication via the FMLM, will follow FMLM's internal procedure for ratification.

Whilst it is acknowledged that this is a voluntary role, and events may occur rapidly causing personal circumstances to swiftly change, it would be gratefully appreciated if individual/s holding this role provide at least three months noticed of an intended departure date from this role.

9. Role specification

If deemed necessary, amendments, modifications and variations of the role specification can be instigated through discussion and agreement between the relevant parties, usually the individual within the current role and the executive team.

10. FMLM support

On appointment to the role, the FMLM will provide a copy of the terms of reference and an appointment letter. An annual summary letter will be provided for evidence of the role and achievements, which can be displayed in your portfolio for ARCP reason, in addition to an end of role letter.

STATEMENT OF INCLUSIVITY

The TSG strives to ensure that equality, diversity, and inclusivity is embedded in all that we do, firmly believing that our collaborative efforts and activities are stronger and more innovative the more diverse and inclusive we are as a committee. It also ensures that we better reflect the views and needs of aspiring trainee leaders, as well as the patients we serve in our clinical roles.

To the TSG, diversity and inclusion is an essential aspect of our work. We are committed to progressing our vision through our TSG Equality, Diversity, and Inclusivity Strategy, and via the introduction of a values-based approach to recruitment. We also promote inclusive leadership through our various activities, for example, the TSG Leadership Commitment promotes access to leadership opportunities which incur no personal financial commitment or investment of non-working time, for all trainees. We also ran the first of our Inclusive Leadership Webinar in Winter 2021 with extremely positive feedback and have since appointed a dedicated Inclusivity Lead.

However, the TSG acknowledges that inclusivity and equity of opportunity can be highly individualised and personal in nature, so, how does this relate to the TSG recruitment process?

We are currently working towards providing alternative means to submit applications, and ways to minimise potential unconscious bias, such as unconscious bias training for members of the TSG.

After receiving your application, it will be blinded prior to being reviewed. We aim to interview as many applicants as we can and provide interview question themes in advance to assist with preparation. To aid recruitment planning we provisionally schedule interview dates in advance, but if these do not suit, we will try to re-organise to a more convenient date and time for candidates where possible.

For our current round of recruitment, we are also trialling means to enable applicants with protected characteristics to support diversity and inclusion. If you identify as having a protected characteristic, please feel able to approach the TSG for a discussion about the recruitment process prior to the application deadline or interview.

During the interview you may request a break (at any point) and for any question to be repeated, or the meaning of words or phrases clarified. If you require further adjustments to the interview process, please inform us in advance and we will do our best to accommodate you. Any personal information discussed as part of the application or interview process will be kept confidential.

Everyone is welcome on the TSG. We look forward to receiving your applications and invite any feedback on how we can improve our recruitment and interview process further.
