

Kaleidoscope Health & Care

Who are they?

Kaleidoscope Health & Care was formed in October 2016 to bring people together to improve health and care in the U.K. Their work aims to fulfil this mission, support financial sustainability, and help learn and grow both individually and together. They are a not-for-profit social enterprise.

What do they do?

Kaleidoscope aim to find new ways to break down old barriers. They enable constructive conversations on difficult topics, using an approach to collaboration and events that encourages clarity of purpose and rigorous problem-solving.

Kaleidoscope have partnerships with some of the world's most advanced health care collaborations (including Cincinnati Children's Hospital), to build communities and improve outcomes. They provide resources to support effective connections and networks, from design to management to events, and provide consultancy to help organisations, from charities to STPs and private companies, address complex issues.

The multi-disciplinary team includes clinicians, policy makers, managers, specialists in communication and digital technology, and more.
